"The almost wordless final sequence as the mummies are removed from the tombs by the archaeologists and transported down the mountains to the sea - is film making of the highest order!. The tribe stand silently watching, uncertain of what action to take, guards on horseback ride menacingly along the seashore, the dawn rises, the boat, heavy with its precious cargo, moves out of sight..... with this film, a new director of international standing has arrived" - J. Gillett, Monthly Film Bulletin.
